Open Event: Celebrating Equality and Diversity Part 2

In anticipation of International Women's Day next week, Coventry University UCU Women's Rep Penny Griffiths welcomes two esteemed guest speakers in the second installment of the 'Celebrating Equality and Diversity' series:

Rhiannon Lockley (Halesowen College), West Midlands Regional Women's Rep, will be discussing women's rights, the gender pay gap, and life as an academic, union activist and mother.

Coventry University's own Randhir Auluck, internationally published academic, politician, magistrate, board member, trade union activist, and working mother bringing up a child on her own, talks of balancing her roles and the challenge of breaking into some 'closed' circles.
